Swimming & Diving Weekly Update

Flames look to bounce back from first dual meet loss of season against UW-Milwaukee this Saturday.

Nov. 1, 2004

Chicago, Ill.- The UIC swimming and diving teams will look to bounce back in a big way from their first dual meet losses of the season, two closely-contested defeats to the defending league champion Wright State men's and women's teams, with a home battle against UW-Milwaukee this Saturday at the UIC Natatorium beginning at 2 p.m.

Both Flames squads are 1-1 and 0-1 in Horizon League dual meet action.

UIC got big performances out of their 50-yard freestyle standouts this past Saturday, as both Blake Booher and Colleen Dougherty won the event against Wright State.

The win was Dougherty's second 50 free victory in a row, while Booher downed the defending league champion in the men's 50 free, Wright State's Elvis Cirikovic.
