Chicago, Ill. - The UIC softball team begins a stretch of six games in five days on Wednesday afternoon as they travel across town to meet Northwestern for a single game at 3:30 p.m., at Sharon J. Drysdale Field.

Both teams are coming off tough league series with the Flames (8-25) going 1-2 at Loyola over the weekend with two of the three games going into extra innings while the Wildcats (17-10) dropped a pair of extra-inning affairs at Michigan on Sunday.

Northwestern, which swept a doubleheader at Flames Field last year, is 25-11 all-time versus UIC.

The Flames will finally make their home debut on Thursday as they welcome Butler to Flames Field for a Horizon League doubleheader at 4:00 p.m.
