Match Between Men's Tennis And Texas-Dallas Halted Due To Inclement Weather

Flames take early lead with doubles point before match cancelled due to storms.

March 28, 2007

Dallas, Texas- The UIC men's tennis team took an early lead by sweeping doubles play against Texas-Dallas on Monday afternoon, but storms forced the cancellation of the remainder of the match.

The Flames won all three doubles matches against the host Comets. Andy Lockhart and Eric Fey defeated Derek Decoste and Matt Volschenk by an 8-6 count at the top slot, while Adriano Liccardo and Bastian Harbo picked up a No. 2 doubles win by the same score over Daniel Hendra and Donald Kasitinon.

Sebastian Lysatd and Sam Sweeney rounded out doubles action with a third spot win over Kevin Yarnall and Kyle Faber by an 8-1 score.

Just after singles play began the inclement weather forced play to be halted. Sebastian Lystad was the only UIC player to finish a set as the freshman picked up a 6-0 first-frame victory at No. 1 singles over James Waterson.
